GRANT'S MONUMENT.

Unveiled To-Day by His Veterans.

GRESHAM EULOGIZES GRANT.

Great Gathering of Soldiers And Sailors.

The Silent Statue Renews Fires of Patriotism.

Grant's Monument.

By Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Under a leaden sky, from which the rain had been falling at intervals during the day, with a sharp wind blowing across the lake and city, in the presence of a great throng who braved the elements; amid the booming of cannon from the government vessels off shore; the screaming of whistles from the shipping; the resounding strains of the "Star Spangled Banner," played by many bands; with regiments of federal and state troops at "present arms," while the Grand Army, "veterans and civic societies clustered about, the heroic bronze statue of the late General Ulysses S. Grant, upon a magnificent granite pedestal, spanning the roadway at the top of the hill, looking toward the lake, was unveiled. To the multitude present the great silent figure from the saddle, looking steadily across the broad expanse of waves, seemed as if again in life, and heedless of the excitement of the excited throng about him, was scanning the horizon for the enemies of the land which in God's providence he had been called to majestically defend.

The enormous crowd gathered there formed an extraordinary figure, including not only the high civil and military dignitaries of the nation, State and city, but those gathered from far and near who were closest to the dead General personally; his wife, who stood by him for years, and the veterans of his original regiment, the famous old 21st Illinois Infantry, with the identical colors that were unfurled at his first headquarters' tent.

The orator of the day, worthy of the occasion, distinguished like his subject in camp and counsel, was the stalwart soldier-jurist, General Walter O. Gresham, Judge of the United States Court of Appeals. An impressive hush fell on the thousands as General Gresham, facing the lake, stepped forward to the edge of the platform at the base of the monument.

On either side in tiers of green slopes, behind the speaker, the distinguished guests were given places. Among them was Mrs. General Grant, her white hair showing beneath her widow's bonnet. Massed in front were nearly twenty thousand uniformed men, infantry, cavalry and artillery, both regiments and State militia; grizzled veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic; bright-plumed Knights of Pythias, and many similar semi-military and civic organizations; back of them the general public, and beyond an imposing array of nearly two hundred vessels, profusely decorated with bunting; the United States steamers Michigan, Johnson and Fessenden; lake steamers, tugs, yachts, city fire boats and miscellaneous lake craft.

Leading up to this superb column of infantry was the formation to the lake front three miles distant, of the great land parade and its march to the statue under command of Major General Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A. The procession was headed by a platoon of police, followed in order by United States regulars from Fort Sheridan, infantry, cavalry and artillery; Illinois National Guards, infantry and cavalry; G. A. R. veterans, including the society of the Army of Tennessee, Cumberland and Potomac; distinguished guests in carriages, including Secretary Noble, Senator John Sherman, Governor Bulkeley of Connecticut, Governor Flier of Illinois and Mrs. General John A. Logan. Next came G. A. R. veterans and Posts of the northwest, forming an entire division; then veterans and societies of ex-Confederates, closing with civic societies.

At the monument Bishop John P. Newman offered a prayer. Then Colonel E. S. Taylor presented the monument on behalf of the Monument Association to the Commissioners of Lincoln park. The unveiling of the monument followed and then General Gresham delivered his address. The sculptor of the statue is Lewis Reibisch of Cincinnati. It is of bronze and represents General Grant seated on horseback, both animal and man in positions of rest. The General grasps a field glass in his right hand, with a glass resting upon his thigh, as after taking a careful survey of the field. It suggests, as a whole, concentration of mind, confidence and self-reliance.

Cabinet Chances.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—It is not likely that any one will be able to discover for a certainty whom Mr. Harrison has selected for government positions until after the November elections, but it is believed that he has already made up his mind on the subject. It is thought that he now contemplates using two Cabinet appointments, and probably some other appointments to strengthen himself in New England and on the Pacific Coast. Circumstances may arise which will make the President want Mr. Miller to remain in the Cabinet, and, of course, if they should, the Attorney General would accommodate himself to the President's interests; but the present expectation of both the President and Mr. Miller is that the latter will retire from the Cabinet to go on the Bench. It is believed then that a California man, probably Mr. Estee, and Governor Cheney of New Hampshire will be appointed to the Cabinet vacancies. It is urged by Senator Chandler that the appointment of Mr. Cheney would greatly assist him in his work for the President in New England, and that Secretary Proctor is of the same opinion.

Methodists in Council.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The Second Ecumenical Methodist Council met this morning in the Metropolitan Church. The platform erected back of the pulpit was crowded with distinguished Methodists from this country and England, and the body of the church held over 500 delegates. The galleries were crowded to the utmost extent with spectators. The morning session was opened by Bishop Bowman of St. Louis, who read a hymn; and Bishop Keener of New Orleans offered a prayer. A sermon prepared by Rev. Dr. Arthur of London, was read by Rev. Dr. Stephenson. The officers nominated by the Business Committee last night were elected. Addresses of welcome were delivered by Bishop John F. Hurst, Rev. James Carlisle and Rev. Geo. Douglass. Responses were made by Rev. Dr. T. B. Stephenson, George Green and Rev. Ralph Abernethy.

MOUNT HAMILTON, Oct. 6.—Professor Campbell has calculated the orbit of the comet discovered here by Professor Barnard on October 2d, and find the following elements: The time of the perihelion passage in November is eight days, eighteen times the earth's distance. These computations show that the comet is moving very rapidly toward the south. It is not increasing in brightness and will not be visible to the naked eye. Hours, Greenwich time; longitude of the node; 215 deg. 38 min.; Omega, 262 deg. 6 min.; inclination of the plane of the orbit; 75 deg. 50 min.

PARNELL'S DEATH.

Irish Leader Called Suddenly.

A SENSATION AND SURPRISE.

Sir John Hennessey's Death Announced.

Queen of the Sandwich Islands Noting Death.

Parnell Dead.

By Cable and Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 7.—Parnell died at Walsingham Terrace, Brighton, at 11:30 last night. Death was the result of a chill caught last week.

Great Britain and Ireland were startled this morning by the utterly unlooked for announcement that Charles Stewart Parnell, the noted Irish leader, was dead. He died suddenly yesterday evening in Brighton. It has been known that Parnell was not enjoying the "best of health" for years, and it has been noticed and widely commented upon that since the O'Shea divorce developments and political trouble came upon him, the great Irish member of Parliament had grown thinner and that he perceptibly aged in appearance. Just nobody expected to hear of his death, and no inkling as to his illness had reached the newspapers.

Only at this hour—1 o'clock p. m.—has it been possible to obtain the details regarding his death. He died at his home, Walsingham Terrace, Brighton, at 11:30 o'clock yesterday evening.

His death is said to have been indirectly due to a chill caught last week, which at first was not regarded as serious. Parnell, however, grew worse, and physicians were called in, with the result that the patient was ordered to take to bed. This was Friday last, and from that time Parnell lost strength and finally succumbed.

The exact nature of his disease is not known at present. From the day he took to his bed, however, the state of Parnell's health was such as to necessitate the constant attention of two physicians, but in spite of their incessant and untiring efforts to prolong or save the life of Parnell, he gradually sank lower and lower, until he expired in the arms of Mrs. Parnell, who is utterly prostrated by the shock.

In this city particularly, the news of Parnell's death came like a thunderbolt upon the clubs and political circles. Nobody even was aware that he was indisposed, consequently when it became known the Irish leader was dead the first idea was that he had committed suicide. As the day wore on, however, it leaked out from statements of his intimate friends that Parnell complained recently of not feeling as well as usual, but it was not thought by anybody that anything serious was in the symptoms, though he was thinner than last year. The last time Parnell appeared in public was at Cregee, Ireland, September 27th, when he delivered a long speech upon the attitude and alleged inconsistencies of Dillon and O'Brien. Upon that occasion Parnell stated he was speaking in defiance of the orders of the doctors attending him and who ordered him to keep his room. Coupled with the announcement that Parnell died last night was the news that Sir John Hennessey, member of Parliament for North Kilkenny, was also dead. Hennessey, it will be remembered, immediately after the exposure in the O'Shea divorce case, contested the North Kilkenny election backed by Parnell's opponents, Vincent Scully, by 1,147 votes. This was great, possibly the greatest, test of strength between the Parnellites and the O'Sheites, and the defeat of Scully no doubt counted for a great deal in future series of disasters which befall the Irish leader.

Another account says, when Parnell arrived home at Brighton from Ireland on Thursday, he complained of suffering from chills. Friday he was unable to leave his bed. A regular physician was summoned. He considered Parnell's illness serious and sent for another physician with whom he held a long consultation. This consultation was resumed on Sunday, when Parnell in great pain was growing weaker every hour. His sickness was pronounced an attack of acute rheumatism. He was untiringly nursed by his wife who hardly left his bedside from the moment his illness was pronounced serious. Parnell did not seem to rally and grew weaker and weaker. Several hours before his death he became unconscious and so remained until he died in intense agony. Owing to the suddenness of the Irish leader's illness and the belief of his wife and physicians that he would recover, no friends or relations were present when he died, there only being present Mrs. Parnell and the physicians.

While Parnell was speaking at Cregee it was noticed that he was very pale and, in other respects, not the same man he had been in the past. In addition he carried his left arm in a sling. He suffered from rheumatism. Telegrams from principal towns of England and Ireland unite that in reporting the death of Parnell, it caused the greatest sensation among his supporters, principally on account of its suddenness.

In Dublin his supporters are in a state of consternation. A meeting was hastily called as soon as the news of his death was known, and it was decided that a meeting of all of Parnell's followers of that city should be called for this evening. The object will be to consider what steps to take in the face of this most disastrous event for their party.

DUBLIN, Oct. 7.—At a meeting of the National Federation, the McCarthyite organization of this city, David Sheehy, member of Parliament for South Galway, submitted a motion to adjourn in consequence of the death of Parnell. It was adopted and the meeting adjourned.

New York, Oct. 7.—Michael Davitt, who is in this city on his way to Ireland, expressed himself as follows: "My feeling about Parnell now is one of unmixed sorrow at his sudden death. The occasion demands an expression of deep regret that he should have been cut off at comparatively an early age. We should remember only the good work which he performed for Ireland. In the career of usefulness and distinction for his country, his recent unhappy conduct will, I am sure, be forgotten by a grateful people as an episode in his political life which will not linger in the memory of Ireland, side by side with his great services. His death will put an end to unhappy dissensions by which the Irish movement has been torn during the last twelve months."

The Island Queen Sick.

By Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—A Washington special says: The reported serious illness of Queen Liliuokalani of Hawaii and the serious political complications that are almost sure to follow her death have convinced the administration that it must be up and doing if the efforts of the English to secure supremacy in those islands are to be circumvented. Just at the present time there is no vessel that can be sent to join the Pensacola at Honolulu. The Mohican and Thetis, if they are not too badly in need of repairs, would be available upon their return to San Francisco, about October 10th, from Behring Sea. What the department would really like to do would be to send Rear Admiral Brown with the San Francisco, and at the earliest possible moment that this vessel can be spared from Chile it will doubtless be sent there. Admiral Brown's popularity with the people of the Sandwich Islands, coupled with a display of two or three good ships, would, it is believed, be of the greatest possible assistance in bringing the United States to the front in the matter of the control of the much coveted island.

Conservative Leader Dead.

By Cable and Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 6.—Right Hon. William Henry Smith, First Lord of the Treasury and Government leader in the House of Commons, who has been ill for some time, died this forenoon. A Farmer Suicides.

Special to the Gazette.
SANTA ROSA, Oct. 7.—R. H. Curtis, a well-to-do farmer living near Markewest, suicided this morning by blowing the top of his head off with a shotgun. He placed the muzzle of the gun in his mouth and pulled the trigger with his toe; pieces of the skull and brain were blown through the ceiling. Deceased was a native of New York, aged 68 years. Despondency, the result of ill health, is thought to be the cause of his suicide. He leaves a wife.

Death in Gas.

By Cable and Associated Press.
BERLIN, Oct. 6.—The gas pipes at No. 5 Mark Graven Strasse were out of order and a number of workmen were sent to make repairs. The pipe leaked badly and by some carelessness a light was brought near the pipe and a fearful explosion followed. Six workmen who were near the pipe were instantly killed, and several persons in the neighborhood were hurt. The house was badly wrecked and set on fire, but the fire did not prove a serious one.

A Female Fiend.

Special to the Gazette.
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—Vicenzo Deliergo, who was stabbed yesterday by Nicola Salvamio, is in a precarious condition. Nicola is still a refugee from justice. This morning a warrant was issued for the arrest of his wife for assault with a deadly weapon. There are witnesses who state they saw the woman commit the assault on the wounded man first.

Land and Water.

Have the farmers thought of the importance of the Irrigation Convention to be held at Carson Friday? If not, they should, and go there prepared to express their views. If the law passed last winter is not what is wanted, the sooner it is found out and steps taken to modify it, the sooner we can look for an influx of population, and that is what we want. Without more people we will remain in a hole, but properly awaits the new development. Let every owner of land and water go to Carson and see if they cannot learn something that will be to the advantage of the whole State.

Would Make a Good One.

Judge Belknap is talked of as Chairman of the Irrigation Convention to be held at Carson on Friday.

The Market Will Come to Us

An editorial in the Enterprise of yesterday is so well put that the GAZETTE gladly gives it space. It is as follows:

The suggestion is constantly made, whenever the settlement of the State is suggested, that we are now raising all the produce we can sell, and that to induce people to come in to engage in farming would be to invite them to an unprofitable field. This question involves the whole settlement of the earth and the civilization of man.

It is true that Nevada cannot support a farming population within itself, then there must have been a change in the laws of nature, since European countries were transformed from grazing land, raising sheep and cattle, into the densely populated regions they now are; since the day when the Pilgrim Fathers landed on Plymouth Rock and proceeded to carve out homes for themselves in the wilderness; since the day when Ohio and Illinois were settled by the sturdy sons of New England, who cut the timber and often burned it to make room for the patch of corn and wheat that was to support their families and lay the foundation of an industrial empire. They had no more market than Nevada, and no better means of communication with outside people. In fact, they had less, for in addition to the consumption of the farming population we have large mines and many mouths to feed in parts of the State where nothing can be raised.

The cry that they cannot sell everything they raise has applied with equal force to every country that ever has been settled. It was true of Illinois and of California, and both of those States lost millions of dollars worth of produce before lines were made to market. But the country that raises to little is the poorer country, not the one that raises to much. If people came to Nevada and supplied their own wants from a little farm, simply trading enough of their products to supply themselves with clothing, tea, sugar and such things as cannot be raised here, they would be much better off than they are now in their present homes.

Western people cannot conceive of the economy practiced by the people in the poorer sections of Europe, or even of the Eastern States, and these same people could come to Nevada, and with the industry and economy that they now practice, could live in comfort and bring up their families respectably.

If they can raise anything more than they need they surely can find buyers for it. All they need to do is to produce something that is wanted by the people anywhere in the country, who are willing to pay what it costs and sufficient advance to cover the cost of transportation.

Today that the railroads will not move such freight as that is to accuse them of a different disposition from other people. They build their road to make money and would never refuse business that could be done at a profit. It would be necessary, of course, to convince them that there was business here to be had, and that there would be some guarantee of a steady supply before they would change their rates and provide for carrying the freight. But they can be depended upon, the same as other people, to do any business that will make them any money, and this bugaboo will soon disappear when it is looked at in the right light.

The only thing that is necessary is for the people of Nevada to let the world know what she has and the low prices at which property is held, and it will sooner or later be taken advantage of by the citizens of other lands.

CHAS. STEWART PARNELL's death, recorded in the GAZETTE's telegraphic columns, is a body blow to Irish home rule, and will be deplored by every lover of Irish liberty. While his downfall as a leader was almost certain, owing to his intimacy with Mrs. O'Shea, whom he married, after causing a divorce between her and her husband, Ireland's cause has met with a loss that it will take a long time to recover from. Parnell showed ability as an organizer of no mean order. He was equally as successful as a disorganizer of families, but that the Irish cause has lost an able friend cannot be doubted.

HAD READ MARC ANTONY.

Comical Incident in the Receiving Room of a Chicago Hospital.
Now and then some comical things happen in the receiving room out at the county hospital. Dr. Hector was on duty one night and had fallen asleep on the little cot provided for physicians on duty, when he was aroused by the rattle of the patrol wagon at the front entrance, says the Chicago Herald. He listened to the shuffling footsteps in the hall and knew it was a case of drunk with more or less elaborate trimmings. Finally two policemen struggled into the room, assisting one of the most wretched and dilapidated specimens of humanity that ever lay on a stretcher. The fellow had become intoxicated, had fallen into a quarrel and had suffered a terrible beating. His face was badly cut in a dozen places. His lips were swollen and bleeding, his eyes were blackened and half shut, his cheeks were lacerated and his teeth were loose, and over all was the raggedest, muddiest, most disheveled suit of clothes possible to imagine. They laid him on the operating table, and one of the attendants assisted the doctor to remove the garments and bathe him, while the policemen bade good night and went back to their beats. In spite of his liquor and his terrible drubbing the fellow was game, and a sort of grim humor welled up every moment of the operation that was necessary to fit him for recovery. He joked about the stitches in his cheek, and told the doctor the needle must have been case hardened. He sneered against the plaster, and claimed he had always heard a porous plaster recommended. He finally pulled out a loosened tooth and offered it to the attendant for a paper weight.

At last the patching was completed, and he stood up in an unsteady fashion, his single garment being the sheet with which he had been covered after his bath, and while the doctor had been at work upon him. A tall mirror at the end of the office attracted his attention, and he walked toward it, wrapping his sheet about his shoulders as if it had been a Roman toga, struck the most heroic of attitudes, and delivered himself to the sewed and cemented figure in the glass:
"Gordon me, thou bleeding piece of earth, that I am meek and gentle with these butchers!"

JUST RULE OF A WOMAN.

How a Feminine Superintendent of a Coal Mine Manages Affairs.

Mrs. Francis Woodring is the superintendent of a coal mine at Ashland, Pa. She has occupied the position since the death of her husband several years ago. The woman is liked by all her employees, some one hundred and eighty in number. She is the first on deck in the morning. She remains at the head of the shaft until all of the employees have gone to work.

Not a single accident, says the Mahoning City Tribune, has occurred in the mine since Mrs. Woodring took charge. She is so careful that she will not allow a man to enter the shaft until the air pressure is just so. If there is a "bad spot" in the roof Mrs. Woodring insists that it must be propped up at once. When the miners stop to "prop" they lose a little time. One day Mrs. Woodring happened into a miner's "breast" which was in bad condition. "Prop that up at once," was the woman superintendent's order.

The man took his time. Mrs. Woodring then got mad and said: "Take your tools out of here. I will have no man in my employ carrying home dead to his wife, women have to suffer enough without being made widows."

The man begged off and Mrs. Woodring allowed him to remain. He at once started to repair the roof over his head. He didn't start any too soon. The next minute a large piece of coal fell on his toe and smashed it. Had he neglected the work of repair a few minutes later he would have been killed by the fall of coal. The miner was ever thankful after that for the prompt advice of the woman.

Directly after Mrs. Woodring took charge of the mine the men insisted on more pay for propping. The woman called a meeting of the men and explained to them that her colliery had to compete with other mines and that if they didn't pay the increase she couldn't. The men were obdurate, however. Mrs. Woodring then said: "All right; I will give you the increase out of my own salary." She never paid it; she was never asked.

Home won't leave her now for anything. They say she is an ideal employer. If any of the employees or the members of their family get sick Mrs. Woodring never fails to visit them and offer consolation. She is so liked by everybody that she is styled "the angel in workingman's clothes."

Seven Millions of Buffaloes.
"Gather up the fragments that nothing be lost" is a text that seems to commend itself to economic science. In the race for material wealth, the world is learning that almost nothing need be wasted. Even the garbage and sewage of a great city has uses now. On the prairies of the west the buffaloes have been almost exterminated. But their usefulness is by no means ended. Their bones are being gathered and shipped eastward, where they are converted into fertilizers. From the single station of Minot, in North Dakota, there were shipped last year 2,775 tons of bones, and this year, so far, 3,400 tons. The entire shipments from the west in the last six years are estimated to represent 7,000,000 buffaloes.

Paris Street Railways.
The street railways of Paris are under the government control, and the rules for their guidance are very strict. Only four passengers are allowed to stand on the back platform, and they must pay the same fare as the first-class passengers inside, viz., six cents, while those on the roof of the car ride at half rates.

Desires to Bear Testimony.

Henry Thorne, Traveling Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., writes from the Hotel Hall, Strand, London, February 2, 1891: "I desire to bear my testimony to the value of Alcock's Porous Plasters. I have used them for pains in the back and side arising from rheumatism and other causes never without deriving benefit from their application. They are easily applied and very comforting. Those engaged as I am in public work which involves exposure to sudden changes of temperature, will do well to keep a supply of Alcock's Porous Plasters in their portmanteaus."

THE IRRIGATION LAW.

Sec. 38. The Board of Directors shall have the power to construct the said works across any stream of water, water-course, street, avenue, highway, railway, canal, ditch or flume, which the route of said canal or canals, ditches or flumes may intersect or cross, in such manner as to afford security for life and property, but said Board shall restore the same, when so crossed or intersected, to its former state, as near as may be, or in a sufficient manner not to have impaired, unnecessarily, its usefulness; and every company whose railroad shall be intersected or crossed by said works shall unite with said Board in forming said intersections and crossings, and grant the privileges aforesaid, and if such railroad company and said Board, and the owners and controllers of the said property, thing or franchise so to be crossed, cannot agree upon the amount to be paid, therefor, or the points or the manner of said crossings or intersections, the same shall be ascertained and determined in all respects, as is herein provided, in respect to taking of lands. The right of way is hereby given, dedicated and set apart to locate, construct and maintain said works over and through any of the said lands which are now, or may be, the property of this State; and also there is given, dedicated and set apart, for the uses and purposes aforesaid, all the waters and water rights belonging to this State within the district.

Sec. 39. The Board of Directors shall receive three dollars per day each for the time actually and necessarily spent in attending meetings of the Board, and actual and necessary expenses paid out while engaged in official business under the authority of the Board. The Board shall also receive compensation to be paid to other officers and employees whose compensation is not herein fixed, which shall be paid out of the District Treasury; but no claim for services shall be paid to any officer, employee or other person, under the provisions of this Act, until the same shall be properly and minutely itemized and verified by the oath of the claimant that the services have been by him performed, giving the date of such performance, the time actually spent, and, if other than a member of the Board of Directors, that the services were performed by order of the Board of Directors, giving the date of such order, and that such claim has not been theretofore presented, and that no portion thereof has been paid. Such claim shall be filed with the Secretary of the Board, and shall be audited and allowed upon the first Monday in each month. In case of the rejection, by the Board, of said claim, either in whole or in part, the same shall not be again presented, but the party feeling aggrieved thereat may pursue such a course as he might pursue under like circumstances, and the claim be held against the county. If, at any time, freeholders to the number of fifty or a majority in any district, shall petition said Board to submit a schedule of salaries for the officers to be paid under this Act, fixing the amount of said salaries, it shall be the duty of such Board of Directors, at the next election to submit to the voters of the district such schedule, to be voted for by them in the same manner as other questions are submitted under the provisions hereof. If it shall appear, from the said election returns, that the majority of the electors in said district cast his (their) ballots in favor of such schedule, the same shall be thereafter established as the rate of compensation for the officers of said district.

Sec. 40. No Director or any other officer named in this Act shall in any manner be interested, directly or indirectly, in any contract awarded or to be awarded by the Board, or in the profits to be derived therefrom, and for any violation of this provision, such officer shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, he shall forfeit his office, and he shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Sec. 41. The Board of Directors may, at any time when in their judgment it may be advisable, call a special election, and submit to the qualified electors of the district the question whether or not a special assessment shall be levied for the purpose of raising money to be applied to any of the purposes provided in this Act. The notice must specify the amount of money proposed to be raised, and the purpose for which it is intended to be used. At such election the ballots shall contain the words: "Assessment—Yes," or "Assessment—No." If two thirds or more of the votes cast are "Assessment—Yes," the Board shall, at the time of the annual levy hereunder, levy an assessment sufficient to raise the amount voted. The rate of assessment shall be ascertained by deducting fifteen per cent for anticipated delinquencies from the aggregate assessed value of the property in the district as it appears in the assessment roll for the current year, and then dividing the sum voted by the remainder of such aggregate assessed value. The assessments so levied shall be computed and entered on the assessment roll by the Secretary of the Board, and collected at the same time and in the same manner as other assessments provided for herein, and when collected shall be paid into the District Treasury for the purposes specified in the notice of such special election.

Sec. 42. The Board of Directors, or other officers of the district, shall have no power to incur any debt or liability whatever, either by issuing bonds or otherwise, in excess of the express provisions of this Act, and any debt or liability incurred in excess of such express provisions shall be and remain absolutely void.

Sec. 43. In case the volume of water in any stream or river shall not be sufficient to supply the continual wants of the entire country through which it passes and susceptible of irrigation therefrom, then it shall be the duty of the Water Commissioners, as hereinafter provided, to apportion in just and equitable proportion a certain amount of said water, upon certain or alternate weekly days, to different localities as they may in their judgment think best for the interest of all parties concerned, and with due regard to the legal and equitable rights of all, or in lieu of the division of water by time, may, if they shall deem such a course for the best interests of water claimants, divide the volume of water between different localities in such a manner as in their judgment would best subserve the best interests of the people of the locality or district. Said Water Commissioners shall consist of the Chairman of the Board of Directors of each of the districts affected.

REMARKABLE CURES.

In Nevada's Healthful and Invigorating Climate.

It is reported that W. M. N. Johnson of Virginia City is rapidly recovering from the accident sustained four weeks ago, whereby both his legs were broken at the ankle, and without amputation. The Chronicle says: "Although the lesion of the injured member was complete, after putting the patient under the influence of opiates, both ankles, which were broken, were taken off and are entirely gone. The protruding bone was put in place and the contused segments and bony matter cleaned and dressed and securely bandaged. Johnson recovered rapidly and to-day is hobbling around on crutches."

This is only another illustration of the remarkable curative qualities of the air in Nevada. Fresh wounds dry and heal soon, that in the humid atmosphere of lower altitudes would lead to certain death. Here diseased lungs will heal and dead bodies mummify, and an ordinary gunshot wound is simply nutriment for healthy flesh to feed on; as witness officer Nash, who was benefited by the Orvis bullet, and Welsh also, who was only slightly inconvenienced. Nevada will be the sanitarium of the continent at some day.

ELSTNER'S AMBITION.

Prospect of the Establishment of a New Democratic Paper in Nevada.

It is reported that Col. M. R. Elstner is about to receive as his share of an English estate the neat little sum of two million dollars. It comes through Roger de Raines, one of the followers of William, Duke of Normandy, when he, the conqueror, invaded England—the Colonel being a lineal descendant of the said Raines. Elstner's hands, it is his purpose to invest $50,000 in a Simon pure Democratic journal at Carson. Let the "Pubs" stand from under.

Stock Shipments.

Twelve cars of beef cattle arrived last night from the eastern part of the State, and were unloaded here for rest and feed. They went forward this morning on a special to Grayson, Owens & Co., San Francisco.

On the same special also went forward the fifteen cars of beef cattle for Horn & Chapman which rested here yesterday.

On to-morrow Mr. Enos of Goose Lake, Oregon, will start a shipment of 75 head of horses for Chicago, and if the market proves satisfactory he will follow it up with other and larger shipments.

A Timely Growl.

Jim Townsend gets in this timely growl about the service: Experiments show that an electric current will travel over a good conductor at the rate of 500,000 miles a minute, or around the earth in three seconds. Light travels at the rate 1,000,000 miles in no time, as it were, yet it takes one letter a week to get from Bridgeport to Landy. Two letters, of course, are twice as long in coming; but Supervisor Hunsell can drive a band of cattle over in four hours or less.

Music in the Air.

A party of young ladies and gentlemen numbering just a baker's dozen, made the echoes resound on last evening's clear, crisp air with their sweet, melodious voices, and charmed the occupants of the homes of Judge Cheney, W. O. H. Martin, R. L. Fulton, C. Novacovich and C. T. Bender.

A Correction.

Miss Mequiers informs the Gazette that an error was made in her report of the standing of the young ladies in the Music Department of Bishop Whitaker's School for Girls. It should have read: Freda Lord, Nellie Ashby, M. S. Lomberger, Louise Evans.

Precautions Before Leaving Home.

Dr. M. J. Davis is a prominent physician of Lewis, Cass county, Iowa, and has been actively engaged in the practice of medicine at that place for the past thirty-five years. On the 25th of last May, while in Des Moines, en route to Chicago, he was suddenly taken with an attack of cholera. Having sold Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for the past seventeen years, and knowing the reliability, he procured a 25-cent bottle, two doses of which completely cured him. For sale by J. B. McCullough.
